From Our Board President

We find opinions everywhere regarding the convoluted world we now inhabit. When people say they want things to go back to normal, I often wonder what they mean. COVID changed forever our perception of normal. I think people mean they would like things to be less stressful, less hurried, and more calm. Just watching the news reminds me how much I treasure living in our corner of the world. It is quieter, safer, and less stressful, fostering the strong sense of community we enjoy.

Team building is another term for community. Twenty-five years ago, Robert Putnam wrote that we were losing social capital as there were fewer bowling leagues. I see team building as the new bowling league. People gather to achieve a goal and share in the success. That sharing inspires another round of goal setting and achievement. Downeast Community Partners strives to promote team building across its departments. The availability of cross training is an illustration of this commitment. The number of employees who are availing themselves of these opportunities grows each time I look at the statistics.

Certainly, my message would be remiss if I did not thank the employees for their commitment to DCP's the mission. The organization's efforts to address the problems residents of Washington and Hancock counties face on a daily basis spur us to constantly seek new resources as we strive to do more with the resources we have. On behalf of the DCP Board, we thank you all for your tireless efforts.

Betsy Fitzgerald

From Our Executive Director

Dear DCP Friends and Neighbors,

Downeast Community Partners just completed its fifth year since the key merge of two former organizations serving Washington and Hancock Counties. DCP, as one of ten Community Action Agencies across Maine covering all sixteen counties, shares and upholds the common broad purpose to reduce the causes and conditions of poverty, each with similar services, yet distinct approaches. 2022 represented both opportunities and challenges for DCP as the need for services and essential resources for our families and individuals became more crucial than ever. DCP's Board of Directors, staff and volunteers rose to the challenges through their dedication to effectively make a difference in the lives and well-being of our neighbors in need. All our work to strengthen DCP's infrastructure and capacity has fostered growth, innovation, and progressive partnerships with an intentional focus on measuring our collective efforts to yield outcomes that demonstrate impacts in the lives of those we serve. While many of these outcomes may appear to be small successes, small successes are often the steppingstones to greater successes. At DCP, we recognize that each person's path is full of obstacles and side trails, and we are the cheerleaders, coaches, encouragers, and navigators on the path for our neighbors to whom we are dedicated in service, while we persevere to listen and learn well ourselves.

It is an honor and privilege to witness the achievements of those whose paths intersect with ours, those we serve, our staff, our volunteers, our partners, and our dedicated Board of Directors who govern and guide our efforts – to remarkable, life-changing outcomes – on our respective paths.

In Partnership –

*In Memory of Nick Robbins
April 14, 1974-November 24, 2022*

Nick worked for more than 15 years at Downeast Community Partners as an Energy Auditor. Well respected, and liked for his work ethic, Nick possessed an easy going attitude and a delightfully dry sense of humor. Nick had a kind soul and genuinely cared for all those around him—not only his colleagues, but also his clients. He is, and will continue to be, deeply missed.

"Thank you for all your efforts to facilitate the weatherization of our house. Nick started the process, and we regret that we didn't get to tell him 'Thank you.' We know there's a lot involved in getting it all done, and you did it. The house is much better thanks to you. We appreciate it very much. "

Early Childhood Programs

"My son has grown so much thanks to all the teachers here. He and I have been through a lot, and his teacher has been able to get my little boy to open up and has given us so much support. My son has already come so far." — An Early Childhood Programs parent

Downeast Community Partners Early Childhood Education Department had another successful year. As the Head Start grantee for Hancock and Washington counties, we provide comprehensive services to children and their families.

What do comprehensive services look like?

Comprehensive services look like...

- An integrated team approach which supports education, health, nutrition, and family.
- A child receiving dental care and follow up for an abscessed tooth, which is impacting their nutritional status and ability to increase language use.
- Parents learning about their child's individual development so their relationships can be as strong as possible.
- Partnering with Good Shepherd Food Bank to provide for basic needs of families and community members.
- Busy classrooms where children are learning through play and feeling safe and secure in their space.
- Parents and staff partnering to provide programming that meets children's needs.
- 81 children (and their families) receiving well childcare medical checks; 47 children receiving oral health services

Our Comprehensive Service Provision for the 21-22 Program Year

We have...

- Continued our agency initiative to promote resiliency with our staff and families.
- Increased staff comfort level and knowledge in technology.
- Moved to more digital/electronic communications with parents and staff.
- Streamlined a systematic approach to new staff orientation.
- Increased the number of Whole Family Coaching staff to better support community and family needs.
- Modified COVID-19 protocols as needed with guidance from the CDC, Maine Child Care Licensing, and Head Start Performance Standards.
- Provided tools regarding High-Scope curriculum to enhance our infant/toddler classrooms.
- Provided occupational and mental health consultation to our classroom staff.

Who did we serve in the 21-22 program year?

- 64 two parent families
- 93 one parent families
- 20 children living in foster families or kinship care
- 13 children and families living without homes

Family Engagement

The success of Downeast Community Partners' early care and education programs hinges on the support we receive from the families, community members, and organizations that collaborate with us. No one entity can do it alone. It is this spirit of collaboration that makes our programs stand out. Our collaborations are built on relationships, trust, honesty, and transparency. Parents trust us to teach, guide, discipline, and care for their children every day, and we support them in doing the same. These collaborative relationships empower parents to extend learning in the home in ways that reflect their children's interests and connect families to community organizations that understand and meet their needs. The collaborative relationships we build also create space in which there is no shame or harm in asking for help and parents, children, and all collaborators are treated with dignity and respect.

"I have seen such growth in my child around being independent. She works hard every day, and she wants to do well. She has learned different strategies as to what to do when things go wrong. We have worked on these problem-solving strategies at home." —An Early Childhood Programs parent

What Is Family Futures Downeast?

Family Futures Downeast (FFD) is a 2-generation college program designed for parents and their children, empowering the WHOLE FAMILY to achieve their goals. Parents enroll in college preparation and college classes with a cohort of peers—and a coach to help guide them—while simultaneously, their children enroll in high quality education programs. Parents attend classes two nights a week, either at Washington County Community College (WCCC) or the University of Maine at Machias (UMM.)

How Is DCP Involved?

While parents are in class, their children age 8 and under receive high-quality early childhood education at Downeast Community Partners' St. Croix Early Care & Education Center (on WCCC's campus) or at DCP's Flaherty Early Care & Education Center (on the campus of UMM.)

Downeast Community Partners is proud to be one of six collaborative organizations working together as FFD partners to promote post-secondary education for parents and early childhood education for their children as a means to reduce poverty, create employment opportunities and improve stability for Washington County families.

Elder Services Navigator

"Thank you for my navigator! My experience with my assigned navigator made me feel so comfortable and confident as we approached the many trials and barriers in my life together. She often became my tower of strength when I felt certain it was time to throw up my hands in surrender. My navigator's response was always 'Oh no, let's talk about it.' Through these conversations, she helped me discover the bright side, as we addressed each challenge. Also, I must confess, life is not so lonely when my navigator's smiling face appears around the corner. " —An Elder Services Navigator program recipient

DCP's Elder Services Navigator provides one-on-one support to help elders obtain the benefits they are eligible for and the assistance they need.

During FY 22

Kathy worked for more than 20 years at Downeast Community Partners in the Transportation Services department. She was known among employees and volunteers alike for her wonderful sense of humor and for going out of her way to help whenever needed. She is, and will continue to be, deeply missed.

"Kathy was the first person that I met when I came to DCP. She interviewed me for a volunteer driver position. We seemed to hit it off right away. She was professional, had a good sense of humor, and made me feel welcome. After I began volunteering, I would see her when I was out on the road. She always greeted me by name. She went out of her way to help me with any problem I had. I will miss her."
